Chaplain Mailley's jabs into the short ribs of the fusionists continues to elicit groans, curses, and lies.

The young man who takes his best girl out sailing and hugs the shore, doesn't gain her regard very fast.

The world consumes 8,000,000 tons of sugar annually. Still, some people's dispositions could be improved by sweet-ening.

The mortgages on western farms are not expanding. Nevertheless, strange as it may seem, it doesn't bring joy to the anti-expansionist.

Jerry Simpson hits it about right when he says that "you might just as well discuss a last year's bird's nest as to discuss silver at 16 to 1 this year."

Someone has said that those who farm to make a living get rich, while those who farm to make money become insolvent. It is very true. It is the men who diversify farming and don't attempt to raise "big" crops who come out best.

Mr. Bryan is devoting the last few days of the campaign to saving his home state to fusion and democracy, but his efforts will not succeed—the tide has turned.

Peffer says he isn't a republican but he has engaged to do all the damage he can against the democratic party. This must make even hard hearted Mark Hanna smile.

The banks in some parts of the country are going out of business because they can't loan the money they have on hand. This is rather hard on bankers and free silver orators.

There are 426 colleges and universities in this country representing an invested capital of $250,000,000, employing 25,000 persons as teachers and officers, and instructing 175,000 students.

The editor of the Podunk Searchlight says: "We expected to have a death and marriage to publish this week, but a violent storm prevented the wedding and the doctor being sick himself, the patient recovered. Accordingly we are cheated out of both."

That the fusionists leaders are alarmed over the change of sentiment in Nebraska this year is evidenced by their violent efforts to stem the flow of popular sentiment. They are playing a losing game and one that will receive a deserved rebuke at the polls in November.

John J. Ingalls has become one of the yellowest of yellow journalists. Ever since Mr. Ingalls declared in the senate that "the golden rule in politics was an iridescent dream," he has been a statesman out of a job. Few men in this country are keener intellectually, but the lack of vigorous nobility of purpose has made him a political outcast.

The World-Herald is trying hard to drag Judge Reese down to the level of Slippery Silas and is thereby not only losing whatever effect it may have had in turning votes toward the losing cause but disgusting the best element of its own party. Judge Beese is the man for the position and the wild vaporings of the World-Herald cannot prevent his election.

True reformers are totally disgusted with the alleged reform of their leaders and admit there is no such quality in their boasts. They have been after the offices and with pleasure sacrificed all the principles of a reform movement.

Holcomb, gaining his election on an anti-pass platform with his pockets full of the paste-boards, is but an instance of how they juggled with the principles of those sincerely desiring justice and right.

The Omaha Bee gives the following, which is a very good index of the condition, of prosperity, which is sweeping over the state: "If the railroads cannot find cars and engines to move the business offered to them now, what do they propose to do when the big corn crop begins to move? This problem is not only bothering the shipper, but the railroad men are working overtime trying to figure it out. The general agent of one of the leading railroads entering Omaha is quoted as saying there is business enough in sight to keep his road busy for two years, with every prospect that provision must be made for increased traffic. When the railroads are busy it is certain business in all lines is good.
 Nebraska and the west are today more prosperous than ever before and, what is more, it is not a fictitious prosperity.
 Some few years ago when the loan agent was putting vast sums of eastern money into the west there were lively times while the borrower was spending it.
 Today the borrower is paying back his loan and still has enough left to keep business at high tide."

The storm centers of public interest this year in the state elections will be Nebraska, Ohio and Maryland. Of late years Maryland has gone back on democracy, and at the present time it has two republican senators. But ex-Senator Gorman is ambitious to become his party's candidate for the presidency and there is being a very aggressive effort made by the democrats to carry that state. Ohio is the president's state, and as a candidate for renomination at the hands of the republican party, a good showing must be made. The result in that state will be looked upon as the thermometer of public sentiment in regard to the endorsement of the administration at home. If the republicans roll up large majorities, Mr. McKinley's right to a renomination will be conceded without question, but should the republicans win by a scratch or the democrats win, it would seriously handicap him in the race. The same condition of affairs confronts Mr. Bryan in this state. While he is undoubtedly the present leader of his party, should Nebraska go republican this year, it would have a depressing influence on his candidacy next year. These three state elections are all pivotal this year, freighted with far reaching consequences to candidates and party success, and the results will be eagerly awaited.

SCENERY FOR A NEW PLAY.

Its Preparation in Modern Theaters an Interesting Process.

The preparation for a new play, as far as the scenery is concerned, is most interesting. A complete model in miniature is made, about the size of one of the German toy theaters seen in the shops. The picture is carefully painted; the rocks, if there be any, and the foliage are cut out, and all the details are followed with no less thought than when the real affair is attacked.

The work is done in water color, mounted on pasteboard, and if the scheme be an interior there are real curtains in miniature, flights of steps, and the hangings, all seriously worked out. It is something that would delight the heart of a boy and furnish him with endless amusement. These models are kept until after the piece is produced, and are then put away on shelves, alas! only to warp and become covered with dust.

But the master painter's work does not end here by any means, for there are lights to be arranged, since they play an important part in the performance and must be regulated by the scheme of color; so there are long conferences with electricians and many discussions with the makers of glass shades whereby the exact tints may be obtained.

When every detail has been settled, then the great acres of canvas are spread on the paint frames, and the drawing is begun. Large china pots are used for the colors. These are filled with paints, which are mixed with water and a size, and enormous brushes put the pigment on the canvas. It is wonderful to watch the artist, who dashes on the paint with no apparent care and who has to work fast to cover the surface before the color dries, which it does quickly.—

Some Superstitions.

When starting for the river, says a writer in London Field, if you have to turn back and get something that you have forgotten, you are sure to catch little or nothing that day. This is an article of Devon folklore, and I am inclined to think the west country folk right herein. The disappointment, the hurry and the bringing of wrong things always act prejudicially upon what out to be the unruffled, even temper of a successful angler. He becomes hasty and rash, most often with ill results to his basket.

In the western highlands it is currently believed that if you see a colt with its back to you when starting in the morning on a fishing excursion it is the worst of luck, only to be exceeded should you hear a cuckoo before breakfast.

 tune by his pen. His father died of grief on reading one of his editorials and left him $150,000.—Nauvoo Independent.
